

BASTON DISMISSED FROM POLICE FORCE

Wife Slayer Refuses to Talk
When Questioned By Superiors.

As the result of a hearing held at the Seventh precinct this morning Private Charles E. Baston, the policeman who shot and instantly killed his wife on Saturday night, has been dismissed from the police force of the District, and is now awaiting his preliminary hearing in the Police Court, after the inquest over the body of Mrs. Baston, which will take place this afternoon.

The hearing this morning was a mere matter of form, it being only held in order to obtain evidence which would be sufficient to dismiss Baston from the force. Inspector Francis E. Cross, presided over the meeting and was assisted in his investigation and questioning by Captains Williams, Elliott, and Schneider.

The first witness called was Gibson Hollingsworth, of 1609 Thirtieth street, who testified that he saw the shots fired and that Mrs. Baston fell immediately to the street, not even having time to cry out. Baston then turned his revolver on himself and attempted to commit suicide, but his bullet missed his head, only perforating his hat.

Baston Refuses to Talk.

When the inspector asked Baston, who was present at the inquiry, if he had anything to say on the subject, or if the story told by Hollingsworth was substantially true, Baston merely shook his head and indicated that he had nothing to say on the subject. Indeed, the demeanor during the whole investigation was that of a man who did not care what was going on around him.

Private Lipscomb, who arrested Baston, told the board that he heard the shots and came running up to the scene of the crime, where he found Baston standing over the dead body of his wife, with the smoking revolver in his hand. Baston, he said, made no resistance to his arrest, and went quietly to the station house, where he refused to speak of the matter, and turned his face to the wall when anyone spoke of it.

Captain Schneider testified that he examined the revolver when it was brought to the station house, and that it bore every sign of having been recently fired. The barrel was dirty, five of the shells empty and the empty cartridges moist with grease which had accumulated there. He also testified that Baston must have fired one shot previous to the killing, as the other witnesses all agree that there were but four shots fired at that time.

Taken Back To Cell.

At the end of the hearing Inspector Cross turned Baston over to the station, where he was held in custody. He wished to make any statement whatever concerning the case, either to confirm or deny the statements of any of the witnesses, or to give any reason why he shot his wife, or why he should not be discharged from the force, but Baston maintained his attitude of sullen indifference and said nothing, contenting himself with merely shaking his head.

He was led back to the cell to await the findings of the coroner's jury, which will hold the inquest over the body of his wife this afternoon.

The autopsy was held yesterday afternoon at the District Morgue. Assistant Coroner Charles S. White found that Mrs. Baston came to her death as the result of a shot fired into her head, and which entered the back of the head, and took an upward course to the brain. Death, said Dr. White, would have been instantaneous.

The other shot which hit Mrs. Baston merely glanced off her head and inflicted no material injury. It was impossible to tell which shot was fired first, but it was the one that entered at the base of the brain that caused her death.

It also stated that the Seventh precinct that Baston intends to make a vigorous defense in the hopes of escaping the death penalty, through a plea of temporary insanity. This, however, was confirmed, however, as Baston refuses to speak of the matter.

It is also stated that he has requested the Police Association to engage counsel for him.

LAWYERS IN FEAR OF BOBBLE HARM

Professing fear for their personal safety and alleging that they had already been the victims of attacks and dire threats, attorneys James H. Woodward and Balderton today appealed to Chief Justice Claiborne of the Supreme Court of the District, for an order directing that further testimony in the divorce suit of Mrs. Ona M. Healy against Fred E. Healy, a civil engineer, be taken in open court.

The three attorneys represent the husband, and they declared that relatives of the wife had attacked them and threatened them during the taking of testimony before Examiner Charles H. Meritt at the Board of Building. They claimed that Mrs. Healy's brother-in-law, Frank Gass, had been particularly belligerent in defending the character of Mrs. Healy.

"I am not a pugilist, and do not feel that I can protect myself against these threats," said Woodward. "We have been threatened with bodily harm and violence if we persist in going into a certain line of testimony which is essential to our defense, and we do not care to take the risk."

"The assaults made on us were made in contempt of court, in my opinion," Chief Justice Claiborne will hear the dispute again on Friday, but declined today to issue any order.

Mrs. Healy is suing her husband for a divorce and alleges cruelty as one of the grounds. She is represented by James H. Archer, who ridiculed the assertions that the three attorneys were in danger.

eyes that ever smiled at a stranger, and her name is Catherine Baston.

While her aunt, Molly Streignitz, sobbed and told you that she is a little baby, the women of the neighborhood enter the door children tugging at their skirts. They walk over to Mrs. Streignitz, kiss her and the baby, and say:

"Howdy, Molly, we're mighty sorry for every one of you in all your trouble. Can't we keep the child for you?"

And little Catherine Baston laughs again, and clasps her pretty hands together for very joy at being alive.

Thinks Only of Child.

In his cell at the Seventh precinct her father—Charles Baston, policeman-prisoner—walks back and forth with short, quick steps. Since the horrible tragedy of Saturday evening, when in a frenzy he shot and killed his wife, his one thought has been, not of the dead, nor of his own fate, but of Catherine Baston, his little girl.

"I want to see my child,"

This is the only communication he has given out to his fellow-officers, or to visit him in his cell. Realization and remorse and fear, the aftermath of frenzy and crime, are lost in his desire to hear his child's prattle.

"We want him to see the child as often as we can," said Mrs. Mary Streignitz, and other members of the murdered woman's family. "Charles Baston is a good fellow, good at heart. Why, his wife's father, Joseph Magruder, took him when he was a boy of thirteen and gave him a helping hand until he was grown. We all thought a great deal of him. He is the last man I would have thought would ever do the terrible thing he has done."

And if he wants to see his little girl, we want him to see her."

In the hearts of the Streignitzs there is no hatred and no bitterness. The father has expressed his desire that Mrs. Mary Streignitz, the sister of his dead wife, take the child, and Mrs. Streignitz herself wishes the father to see the little girl whenever possible.

"My sister had a good heart," Mrs. Streignitz explains to strangers, "but there were family quarrels. And I'm not saying that Charles Baston hasn't got a good heart."

At the little street, where the ripple of the water within the locks of the old canal, and the laughter of the children are the only sounds heard today near the Baston home, small groups of women talk in subdued voices.

And they do say that even a good-hearted woman may nag a man to his ruin; that it's hard for a man and woman, when they have children, to keep their heads, and there is never enough money to go round.

Then, each catches up her own small girl, as any foolish woman would, and remembers little Catherine Baston laughing and cooing, while her father pined for her and says:

"I want to see my child."

MANGLED BY EXPLOSION.

STANTON, Va., Oct. 3.—A boiler explosion in a planing mill at West Augusta severed the head and arms from the body of Fred Kreshner, seven years of age, who was killed. The child was a considerable distance and mutilated almost beyond recognition. No one else was hurt.

YOUR KIDNEYS WILL ACT FINE AND ANY BACKACHE SIMPLY VANISHES

Just a few doses of Pape's Diuretic regulates the Kidneys and ends Bladder misery.

The real treachery and danger in kidney trouble is because the first symptoms are always seen in other parts of the body before anything wrong is noticed with the kidneys themselves.

The moment you suspect any kidney, bladder or urinary disorder, or feel a dull, constant backache or the urine is thick, cloudy or offensive or full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a stinging sensation, begin taking Pape's Diuretic as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which is so harmless and will effect so thorough and prompt a cure.

Put an end to kidney trouble while it is only trouble—before it develops into Dropsy, Gravel, Diabetes or Bright's Disease.

Pape's Diuretic acts directly upon the kidneys, bladder and urinary system; cleanses, heals and regulates these organs, cures cystitis and gonorrhea, the cure within a few days.

Indigestion, backache, or pains, rheumatic twinges, debilitating headache, nervousness, dizziness, bilious stomach, prostatic trouble, sleeplessness, indigestion, or any of these symptoms, worn-out feeling and many other symptoms caused by clogged, inactive kidneys, promptly vanish. Frequent, painful and uncontrollable urination due to weak or irritable bladder is overcome.

Any physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will vouch for the responsibility of Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, who prepare Pape's Diuretic—50 cent treatment—sold by every druggist in the world.

READY FOR CHARGES, SAYS EXCISE BOARD

Prepared to Meet Any Accusation Horstmann
May Make.

That the Excise Board is prepared to meet any charges that may be made by F. Oden Horstmann, member of the Metropolitan and Chevy Chase Clubs, and assistant clerk to the Excise Board, at $1,000 a year, was the statement of W. P. Richards, chairman ex officio.

Mr. Horstmann's dismissal was slated to take effect upon the return of Commissioner Johnston, who today resumed his duties at the District building. While the matter rests entirely with the board, it was decided to postpone action out of deference to the Commissioner who appointed Mr. Horstmann Inspector of the Street Cleaning Department, from which he was later transferred to the Excise Board.

Owing to the fact that the Commissioners were busy this morning in the consideration of their annual estimates, the dismissal of Mr. Horstmann was not broached to Commissioner Johnston.

Mr. Richards said this morning that it would be presented to him at the first opportunity.

"If the Commissioners desire the board to postpone action for a few days in order that Mr. Horstmann may be located in another position, no objection will be interposed," said Mr. Richards. "Under the circumstances, however, Mr. Horstmann cannot remain in his present position. As assistant clerk to the excise board he was regarded as a confidential agent of the board, and reports should have been submitted to that body."

"It is understood that Mr. Horstmann has certain charges which he will ask us to investigate, following the severance of his official relations with the board. We would be poor public servants if we permitted his continuance in office because of fear of an investigation. At present I cannot say what these allegations are. I prefer that Mr. Horstmann should first make public his side of the question."

There has been no attempt to raise an issue between the Commissioners and the Excise Board regarding Mr. Horstmann's appointment. He is an appointee of the board and may be dismissed without order of the Commissioners.
